C. & A. ROAD IS WRECKED

HARRIMAN AND ASSOCIATES RESPONSIBLE.

MADE MILLIONS ON DEAL

ATTORNEY GENERAL STEAD EXPRESSES OPINION.

HAS PITY FOR STOCKHOLDERS

Says State of Illinois Should Not Proceed Against Perpetrators of Great Wrong, Lest Injury Be Done Persons Whose Savings Are Involved.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 7.—Attorney General Stead, in an opinion submitted to Governor Deneen today, expresses doubt as to whether it is the province of the state of Illinois to proceed against E. H. Harriman and his associates for the alleged manipulation of the Chicago & Alton properties. If the state should revoke the company's charter, the loss would fall on the stockholders, the Harriman people already having disposed of a large portion of their holdings.

The attorney general concludes therefore that the best plan would be for the company itself to seek a remedy for the situation or even for one or more stockholders to act. At the same time Mr. Stead assured the government that should he become convinced on further investigation that the state can relieve the road's condition, he will make the necessary moves at once.

Notwithstanding his convictions as to the wisdom of immediate action, Mr. Stead insists there is not the least doubt but that a civil remedy exists against the "financiers who have wrecked this prosperous railroad company, and, at the expense of innocent stockholders and bondholders, have gathered to themselves a harvest of millions of dollars."

Testimony Is Reviewed.

Attorney General Stead reviews the testimony given by Harriman recently before the interstate commerce commission at New York and from the records of the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission, obtained the various resolutions, certificates and documents pertaining to the Chicago & Alton Railroad company and the consolidated company, all of which figure in the manipulations.

The profits made out of the Alton deals by Mr. Harriman and his associates are placed by Mr. Stead at $20,[illegible]-$18,000.

"As a result of this enormous profit to themselves," he declared, "the railroad companies are thrown into hopeless bankruptcy."

The indebtedness of the companies as shown by the figures in opinion has been increased a total of $80,640,218 since they fell into Harriman's hands. Of this amount only $22,500,000, according to Harriman's own testimony, says Mr. Stead, was incurred for improvements, betterments or extension of the roads.

"Over $57,000,000 of this indebtedness," continues the opinion, "or more than 70 per cent of the entire indebtedness created by this syndicate upon the properties of these companies, were not created in furtherance of any legitimate purpose for which a railroad company is or can be good under the statutes of the state of Illinois."

Alton Deal in Detail.

Mr. Stead takes up the Alton deal in great detail, bringing out the fact that in 1898 the company paid all its operating expenses and a seven per cent dividend on its common and preferred stock and had $200,000 left. The company's credit was good and then the syndicate took hold, purchasing 24,722 shares of preferred and 188,224 of common stock, distributed as follows:

Geo. J. Gould, 54,534 shares; E. H. Harriman, 54,535 shares; Mortimer L. Schiff, 54,535 shares; James Stillman, 54,535 shares, including smaller number of shares taken by others.

Mr. Stead dates the Alton's difficulties from 1899 when its new owners ordered the issue of $40,000,000 in three per cent bonds for improvements. Of these bonds $32,000,000 were subscribed by the new stockholders at 95 cents on the dollar, of which the syndicate received 97 per cent. Part of the bonds secured by the syndicate afterward were sold at 96 representing a large profit.

The next move in the series of manipulations, says Mr. Stead, was to add $12,414,177 to the cost and capitalization of the road. This consisted in part of the income which the stockholders of the company in former years had been content to apply to betterments and permanent improvements, and which by order of the board of directors had been charged upon the books of the company to operating expenses and consisted in part of losses sustained by the stockholders of other companies.

The next step was to declare a 30 per cent dividend on May 31, 1906. The dividend on the stock owned by the syndicate, paid by check to Kuhn Loeb and company, amounted to $8,669,180 and was charged upon the books of the company against "construction expenditures capitalized." The syndicate's profits up to this time all told were $14,985,000 when followed the lease of the Chicago and Alton Railroad company's properties to the Chicago and Alton Railway company, and the syndicate ostensibly transferred its stock to Louis L.

BRYAN ON "TAINTED MONEY"

Praises Churches for Refusing Such Gifts.

KANSAS CITY, April 7.—William J. Bryan, in a lecture here tonight at the Grand Avenue Methodist church praised churches and other institutions that have refused gifts of "tainted money," and said:

"I am glad to see this question agitated. I am sanguine enough to believe that this struggle over accounting money which has been amassed by questionable means will yet be settled on the side of ethics and morality. I believe the time is coming when great educational institutions will refuse to give respectability of great criminals by going into partnership with them. We are too prone to measure morality at the door of the penitentiary. We forget that there are many criminals outside prison doors."

THEO. D. BUHL DROPS DEAD

Detroit Multimillionaire Dies Suddenly in New York.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Theodore D. Buhl, president of the Buhl Malleable Iron works of Detroit, president of the Detroit National bank and also of the firm of Park, Davis & Co., chemical and drug manufacturers, dropped dead today on the sidewalk near the Waldorf Astoria hotel, where he had been a guest.

Mr. Buhl was one of a group of steel magnates, a multimillionaire and prominent in banking circles in the middle west and the east.

SECRECY MAINTAINED

GREAT BRITAIN GUARDS POWER OF ITS NAVY.

Foreigners Are Allowed no Information Regarding London's Warships.—Three Big Cruisers.

LONDON, April 7.—The naval officers attached to the embassies and legations accredited to the court of St. James have found the difficulties in obtaining information with regard to Great Britain's naval plans growing greater until they have reached a point where it is next to impossible to penetrate the veil of secrecy. Great Britain in this respect is adopting the policy of her far eastern allies.

When the battleship Dreadnought was launched the naval attaches did ascertain some of the details of her construction, but that was Great Britain's first attempt to prevent foreigners gaining information regarding her new ships. A second and more successful attempt is being made in connection with three giant cruisers, Invincible, Inflexible and Indomitable. The first two are under construction and the Indomitable was launched recently at Glasgow.

As in continuance of such precautions, all the naval attachés were invited to the launching of the Indomitable. They expected that before the general public arrived they would be given an opportunity to inspect the ship. But instead they were placed under the guidance of an officer who kept them inspecting the boiler shop, while they were all eager, but too polite to suggest visiting the Indomitable before the hour fixed for the launching. They did reach the ship's side in time to see the vessel slide into the water, but with this exception everything, even the thickness of the armor, remained a government secret. Ordinarily the spaces in which the armor is to be placed are left vacant at the launching and it has thus been possible for experts easily to judge the thickness of the plates. But on the Indomitable these spaces were filled with planking so there were no means of even guessing at the thickness of the armor.

The attaches say they have learned nothing regarding this ship, but in order to make doubly certain that no information regarding the new navy reaches foreign powers, the admiralty has issued orders that henceforth the same secrecy is to be maintained regarding all new ships and that the staff intrusted with the carrying out of all details of construction be placed upon oath not to divulge the plans. The same secrecy surrounds the improvement in naval guns which Sir Percy Scott, the gunnery expert, has perfected and is installing. This device, it is said, greatly increases the capacity of the guns, but its nature is known only to those in the inner circle.

The army council also has passed more stringent regulations to prevent the doings of the army from reaching possible enemies. Officers and soldiers have been forbidden to communicate to the press any military information or their views on any military subject. They are also to be held responsible for all statements communicated to friends which subsequently may be published.

LIZADRO BARRILLAS MURDERED

Ex-President of Guatemala Assassinated on Street Car—General Dies Instantly.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 7.—General Manager Lizadro Barrillas, ex-president of Guatemala, was assassinated here this evening as he sat in a street car. As the car stopped a young man, 17 years of age, climbed aboard and, rushing upon the general, stabbed him twice, the first blow severing the jugular vein, the second cutting his face. The general died instantly.

The assassin was captured. He gave his name as Jose Estrada, and his home as Quiche, Guatemala.

Ex-President Barrillas was generally considered as strongly opposed to the present government of Guatemala. He was 62 years old and was a strong possibility for the next presidency of the country.

FAVORITE SONS OVERWHELMED

ROOSEVELT WAVE IS SWEEPING EVERYTHING.

MORE POPULAR THAN EVER

RENOMINATES HIMSELF WITHOUT APPEARING TO TRY.

LETTER ACTS AS BOOMERANG

Present Remarkable Condition Is Largely Due to Attack on the President and His Policies Contained in the Stolen Communication.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—President Roosevelt appears to have renominated himself for president without appearing to try, in spite of his own inclinations, and at least a year and a quarter before the time for putting national tickets in the field. Higher and higher is the Roosevelt wave rising in various parts of the country. It is overwhelmingly favorite sons everywhere.

Nebraska is overwhelmingly in favor of his nomination and so declared through its legislature. North Dakota is practically solid from one end of the state to the other in favor of the renomination of Roosevelt and of no one else. The Iowa house of representatives is considering a resolution declaring that business conditions demand the reelection of Roosevelt, and it will be adopted on Monday. This remarkable condition is apparently being brought to fruition by the attack on the president and his policies contained in the stolen letter of E. H. Harriman.

Has no Particular Candidate.

President Roosevelt today told friends of Vice President Fairbanks that he was not urging the nomination of any particular candidate for the presidency and that his chief concern was to procure the nomination of some man who will carry out his policies after 1908.

This will undoubtedly be seized upon by the opponents of Secretary Taft in Ohio as an indication that the president is gliding sideway in the support of the secretary of war. The Taft managers have given the impression that the secretary of war was the president's particular candidate and that in the strife in Ohio the lines will be drawn between Roosevelt and Taft on the one hand and Foraker on the other.

The impression, however, is prevailing more strongly than ever that the candidate of the next national Republican convention will either be Mr. Roosevelt himself or some conservative candidate. Indeed, the president himself at times is said to have shown signs of weakening, but thus far he has kept the record straight, and has continued to insist that he would not depart from the declaration made on election night in 1904. Not once, but hundreds of times, in the last week, has the president heard from friends throughout the country that the demand for him is irresistible.

Is as Strong as Ever.

The result of the president's inquiries, so far as could be ascertained today, is that he is just as strong as ever throughout the country. The general

PITTSBURG IN DANGER

FLOOD IS LIKELY TO DESTROY THE CITY.

J. W. Arras, of U. S. Engineering Force, Issues Warning—Second Johnstown Disaster.

PITTSBURG, April 7.—Pittsburg is in danger of devastation some day by a flood similar to that which laid waste Johnstown. Thousands of lives and millions of dollars' worth of property will be lost, according to a report made public tonight by J. W. Arras, of the United States engineers corps.

Mr. Arras, who has charge of building dams in the Ohio and Allegheny rivers, has investigated conditions here and his report to the government sounds warning of the disaster which he declared, is sure to come. No more warning will be given Pittsburg according to Mr. Arras, than that received by Johnstown.

In the March freshet, says Mr. Arras, the Monongahela predominated. Should the Allegheny take the lead, however and there is no reason why it should not, the low wooden bridges would be washed from their foundations and the entire mass dashed against the Pennsylvania railroad bridge.

"Would it withstand the attack?" he asks. "No man can tell. It is a ponderous structure, splendidly proportioned and substantially built. However, what it will do seems immaterial, for whether it stands and holds the gorge or falls before it, it will in either case divert the irresistible onrushing tide toward the mainland where the damage to physical property will be enormous and lives in the thousands will be sacrificed. Since there would be insufficient warning to enable the unsuspecting to withdraw to places of safety."

"EDDY" IS WITH HIS FATHER

Dr. Krieger, Now in Berlin, Will Defend Possession of Son.

BERLIN, April 7.—Dr. George E. Krieger, formerly of Chicago, and his son, "Eddy," who was reported to have been kidnaped in Hamburg some time ago, are in Berlin.

Dr. Krieger intends to practice medicine here. "The boy was desirous to remain with his father," Dr. Krieger [illegible] "and that he intends to defend possession of him by every legal means. The boy's mother, who is now the wife of Dr. Henry E. McDonald, a dentist of Chicago, responding to an inquiry some days ago, said she intended to return to Chicago immediately.

MANY IRREGULARITIES

FRAUD IN RECENT LIFE INSURANCE ELECTIONS.

International Policyholders Committee Files Sensational Statement. Couldn't Get Square Deal.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The international policyholders committee issued a statement today pointing out alleged violations of the present insurance code by the companies in the recent election of officers and the alleged inefficiency of the department of insurance in conducting the supervision of the election.

"The international committee," says the statement, "has maintained for months, in both the Mutual and New York Life canvass, a force of watchers and translators, and every effort has been made to protect the interests of policyholders, who have been so uniformly against us, and being fully satisfied that it is impossible under the present conditions to secure a fair count of the votes as cast, we withdraw our watchers.

"From the beginning the companies, with the assistance of the department of insurance, have evaded and nullified in every way possible the law as enacted. The companies filed lists of policyholders at Albany which contained thousands of incorrect names with false and misleading addresses, while they gave to agents and canvassers not alone the correct names and addresses, but the policy numbers of the insured."

The statement sets forth the various forms of irregularities charged and declares it was practiced on a wholesale scale. Illustration is given of a family voted in the recent election and that they had not resided at the stated address for over two years.

"Numerous instances developed where agents had sent in proxies and ballots bearing the names of policyholders who had been dead for years, while many ballots were cast bearing the names of former policyholders who had allowed their policies to lapse.

"The officers of these companies and the department of insurance are responsible for this condition of affairs."

FACULTY RECONSIDER

NO STRIKE OF STUDENTS OF SCHOOL OF MINES.

President of Institution Forced to Action by Plea of Sophomore Class to Be Expelled.

GOLDEN, Colo., April 7.—The faculty of the School of Mines will reconsider the matter of the expulsion of six members of the sophomore class for hazing, and there will be no strike of the students.

This announcement was made tonight by members of the sophomore class, who called upon President Alderson in a body today and requested that they all be expelled if any part of the membership were to be thus dealt with, as they were all equally guilty of the offense complained of. President Alderson said he could not consider such a proposition, but would agree to give the main question a rehearing at a meeting of the faculty tomorrow. The students then held a meeting and decided to attend classes tomorrow as usual.

It is reported that influential citizens of the town have been working with the president and faculty of the school to prevent an eruption that threatened to close the school by reason of a strike of the students. It is believed tonight that the decree of expulsion against the six students will be changed to suspension.

Firemen Lose Lives in Bad New York Blaze.

NEW YORK, April 8.—One fireman was killed and several firemen buried early this morning by the falling of a wall at the Metropolitan power house, during a fire in the structure.

At 2:50 the entire destruction of the plant was feared. A call for five ambulances has been sent for.

Seven firemen of engine company No. 50 were killed under the falling walls in Seventh Avenue, including Captain John Ryan.

J. T. KEBLER QUITE ILL

Manager C. F. and I. Poisoned by Eating Canned Salmon.

PUEBLO, April 7.—A special to the Chieftain from Trinidad says that John T. Kebler, general manager of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, is seriously ill at the Columbian hotel in this city of ptomaine poisoning, due to eating of canned salmon in the coal camp at Tercio, this county, last Thursday. Private Secretary Grout, who is here with him, reported tonight that the patient was somewhat improved and an early recovery is expected.

JOE CANNON HOME AGAIN

IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER WORK ON CANAL.

SPLENDID SYSTEM EMPLOYED

SPEAKER ENJOYS EVERY MINUTE OF HIS STAY.

SAYS HE HAD JOLLY HOLIDAY

Refuses to Comment on Recent Happenings.—Has no Knowledge of Roosevelt-Harriman Controversy.—Lost Track of Current Events.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Speaker Cannon said tonight that he had no personal knowledge of the controversy between President Roosevelt and E. H. Harriman. Mr. Cannon arrived here tonight from a trip to the West Indies, Venezuela and Panama, made this statement tonight when pressed for an opinion about the matter.

Mr. Cannon explained that he had not yet had time to read the papers carefully and had not become fully informed as to the nature of the disagreement. While on board the Bluecher, on the return voyage, the speaker refused to allude to the Roosevelt-Harriman affair in any way, it is announced.

Had Jolly Trip.

Mr. Cannon is enthusiastic over his trip.

"I had a jolly holiday," he said. "I enjoyed every minute and see my watch back every time I thought of it. I never felt better in my life."

With several other congressmen the speaker was the guest of Congressman McKinley, of Illinois, on the trip. They visited all the important places in the West Indies and Venezuela and devoted some time to an inspection of the Panama canal.

Of the work on the canal Speaker Cannon said:

"I was mighty well pleased and agreeably surprised as was every member of our party, with the progress of the Panama canal. It is a mere question of work which is being done rapidly under a splendid system. If I was paying for the job myself I would slap the boys on the back and say: 'Hustle along and get the dirt out.'"

The speaker was asked if he would not comment on some other phases of the recent news. Answering all the questions, he said:

Makes no Comment.

"I have been absent from the United States since the adjournment of congress on March 4 and have been literally without news as to the events that have occurred since that time.

"I am informed that there have been great fluctuations in the price of securities and am gratified that the situation is changing for the better. I hope and believe that nothing will occur to interfere with production and commerce in the broadest sense.

"I feel assured that when the time arrives to decide on the continuance or change in our fiscal, commercial and industrial policies, the people will

ARE LOYAL TO STEVENS

EMPLOYES OF CANAL PRESENT HIM TESTIMONIAL.

Former Chief Engineer of Panama Canal Given Splendid Sendoff Previous to His Departure.

COLON, April 7.—John F. Stevens, former chief engineer of the Panama canal, was given a splendid sendoff last night previous to his departure today for the United States. W. G. Hird, general manager of the Panama railroad, acted as chairman.

Mr. Stevens, in a speech, gave John F. Wallace, whom he superseded as chief engineer, the credit for the organization of the work. This, Mr. Stevens declared, he had modified only when necessary. He said the preparations deemed necessary two years ago were underestimated, and though the working forces had since been doubled, they still were inadequate. But now, he declared, the machinery had been completed, homes had been provided for 250,000 persons, there were railway facilities for handling over a million yards of earth monthly and the organization was so advanced that it was possible to carry on the work in both wet and dry seasons. He said he firmly believed the canal would be opened in January, 1915. He did not seek the position and was leaving it of his own volition.

Mr. Stevens asked his loyal friends not to take their complaints to Washington, but to make them to Major Goethals, the new chairman of the canal commission, for whom he solicited the same loyalty as had been given him.

Just before sailing today Mr. Stevens was presented with a two-volume testimonial signed by American and other employes of the canal expressing their loyalty to him. The employes association subscribed for three gifts, intended to be handed down by Mr. Stevens to his three sons.

TO DISCUSS CORPORATIONS

National Civic Federation Meets in Chicago in May.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The executive council of the National Civic federation has decided on Chicago as the place and May 21, 22 and 23 as the dates for holding the national conference on corporations and trusts, which recently was announced by that organization. Between now and then the various wings of the federation will send the invitation asking the appointment of delegates by governors and presidents of the important commercial, manufacturing, agricultural, labor, economical, political and law associations.

The purpose of the conference is to consider the trust and combination problems, especially the question of what amendment, if any, should be made to the Sherman anti-trust act.

TO PROTECT EMIGRANTS

Italians, It Is Claimed, Are Utilized in Unhealthy Section in U. S.

ROME, April 7.—Francesco P. Materi, member of the chamber of deputies, has made public a letter in which he urges the government to extend its protection to Italian emigrants not only on board steamers crossing the ocean, but even after they have disembarked in the United States. He expresses the belief that emigrants to America are exploited and used for work in unhealthy sections of the country. The writer points out that in 1906, 300,000 Italians emigrated, and that 500,000 went to the United States. He estimates the total number of emigrants for 1907 at 1,000,000 persons.

PILGRIMAGE OF PEACE

W. T. STEAD TALKS OF THE HAGUE CONFERENCE.

Outlines Plan for Furtherance of Ideal Condition, "The United States of the World."

NEW YORK, April 7.—W. T. Stead occupied the pulpit in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, tonight and set forth his views as to the opportunity which was afforded Americans by the coming Hague conference of arousing other nations to a sense of the importance of making definite and immediate progress toward the ideal described by the phrase, "the United States of the World."

He urged that at the coming peace conference representative American men and women should be selected as the nucleus of a pilgrimage of peace. These persons would then appeal to the American people for their indorsement by public meetings or signed memorials. Armed with this evidence of national support, they would in the first case go as a deputation to the president and to the secretary of state asking them to instruct their delegates at The Hague to support this above program. Then they would visit the British ambassador, informing him of their intention to start at once for England in order to appeal to the British people for their support in their requests on their king and ministers.

Mr. Stead said there was no doubt that they would receive an overwhelmingly popular reception in Britain, where the ground already had been prepared. At London they would be joined by four pilgrims from each of the three Scandinavian countries and the Americans and Scandinavians, together with 12 British pilgrims, would present their petition to the king at Buckingham palace and to his ministers in Downing street. The 36 pilgrims would then cross over to Paris. The same thing would be repeated there. Receptions by the president of the republic and his ministers, the municipality and the chamber of commerce would afford ample demonstration of the loyalty of France to the principle of fraternity. The pilgrims now swollen to 48 by the addition of 12 French pilgrims, would pick up others at Geneva and then go on to Rome. From Rome the pilgrims, now 62 in number, would go to Russia, and 86 would arrive at Berlin, 98 would reach Brussels and then 110 would finally round up at The Hague to present their petition to the conference which is to assemble on June 1.

Mr. Stead said that the idea had been received with enthusiasm in Europe.

WOMAN PRISONER SUICIDES

Held at St. Petersburg for Taking Part in Big Robbery.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 7.—A woman prisoner hanged herself today in the St. Peters and St. Paul fortress. She was arrested last November for taking part in the plan of robbery on October 17 of the cashier of the customs house here while he was proceeding in a carriage from the subtreasury with a sum of money estimated at $120,000 to $150,000, and in which $103,000 was secured.

CULBERSON WON'T TALK

Refuses to Discuss Probable Candidacy for Presidency.

DALLAS, Texas, April 7.—United States Senator Charles Culberson tonight declined to discuss the use that is being made of his name through the north and west in connection with the Democratic nomination for the presidency next year.

"I know nothing about it, except what I see in the papers," he said. "I have had no communication with committeeman Johnson nor anyone else, and do not know how the use of my name was started."

Men who are close to Senator Culberson insist that the senator expects Mr. Bryan to be nominated next year. National Committeeman Johnson reached Dallas today from New York, Chicago and St. Louis. He says he has an appointment to see Mr. Culberson tomorrow. Mr. Johnson insists that Democrats to the east and north desire Senator Culberson to become a candidate.

VIOLATION OF CONSTITUTION

STATES OVERSTEP RIGHTS IN INSURANCE MATTERS.

SHOULDN'T LOWER SALARIES.

CLEVELAND FILES BRIEF WITH WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

OBJECTS TO INTERFERENCE

Ex-President Intercedes for Association of Life Insurance Presidents, as Its Counsel.—$50,000 Too Small a Yearly Salary.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Former President Grover Cleveland, counsel for the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, has just submitted to that association a brief in relation to the matter of salaries paid by life insurance companies. The occasion for its presentation, it is stated, is the fact that certain western states have now pending before their respective legislatures bills that would limit the salaries of life insurance officers to $50,000 a year, while in others the limit is fixed at $25,000 a year.

The brief, it is announced, will be filed tomorrow with the Wisconsin legislature by Robert Lynn Cox, who will appear as attorney for the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, in opposition to the bill providing for compulsory investment of reserve funds in the state, largely increased taxation of premiums, receipts and other subjects.

After calling attention to the fact that insurance companies are private corporations, Mr. Cleveland says:

Definite Insurance Companies.

"Whether these companies are classed as stock corporations or mutual corporations, in either case, their business interests are confined to contract relationships based upon the expectation of life and other incidents attaching exclusively to the individual policy holders in each corporation. It has been judicially determined, beyond the reach of controversy, that in legal contemplation these companies are within the definition of persons, and so far as their rights are concerned, they are on the same footing as citizens of the United States, and of the several states. The fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution provides that no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any persons of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

"It is clearly the intent and inevitable effect of the contemplated legislation to abridge these privileges and immunities of corporate citizens of the United States by imposing upon them limitations concerning the compensation to be paid their officers and employes, in the face of the law of their creation and domicile, which makes them free from such limitation. A law which forbids the possession and enjoyment of property by life insurance companies, except upon a condition which involves the abandonment of their right to contract for the equipment and management of their business—a right inherent to their organization, permitted by the law of their creation, and necessary to the protection of the interests they have in charge—and a condition which exacts a price of doing business, surrender of guidance of sound judgment and safe experience in its prosecution, under a penalty of forfeiture of interests to which in common justice they are entitled, can not be regarded otherwise than bald, unsolicited and unmitigated deprivation of privileges, immunities and property, without a chance for escape.

Startling Legislation.

"Legislation of this character is so new and startling as to indicate a disposition to depart from all conservative and steady sentiment touching state supervision and regulation of life insurance companies."

He then quotes from several decisions of the supreme court of the United States, and says:

"Measured by the standards fixed by the adjudications of the highest tribunal of the land, it seems quite certain that the legislation we are considering would amount to an unconstitutional use of state legislative authority. It can not be claimed that it would 'promote either the health, peace, morals, education and good order of the people or increase the prosperity of the state, develop its resources and add to its wealth and prosperity.' It does not proceed within reasonable limits and general rules, but goes far beyond the proper exercise of state legislation and results in clear and hostile discrimination against particular persons and classes. Instead of a fair reasonable and appropriate exercise of state's police power, it assumes the complexion of an unreasonable, unnecessary and arbitrary interference with the rights of the individual to his personal liberty, or to enter into contracts in relation to labor which may be deemed appropriate or necessary."

He then considers salaries paid to presidents and first vice presidents of twenty-nine leading companies and adds: "From this examination it appears that the total premium receipts of the twenty-nine companies amounted to $416,665,805; that the percentage of these receipts paid to presidents and vice presidents by all the companies was 29-100 of one per cent; that their percentage of their premium re-

Mr. Terrazas's father was an American citizen, which fact, according to the constitution of the state of Chihuahua, renders Mr. Creel ineligible for the office of constitutional governor. His father-in-law, Don Luis Terrazas, has been the constitutional governor of the state for many years, and Mr. Creel has been substituting as acting governor and is now an avowed candidate for constitutional governor. ENGLAND IS SELFISH

MOTHER COUNTRY IS INCONSIDERATE OF COLONISTS.

Fourth Colonial Conference Assembles at London April 15—Most Important Yet Held

LONDON, April 7.—The fourth colonial conference, which will assemble here April 15, promises to be the most important yet held, although the absence of Joseph Chamberlain, the ex-colonial secretary, will be greatly felt. Popular interest is enhanced by the participation of Dr. Jameson, the Transvaal rebel, who is now premier of Cape Colony, and General Louis Botha, premier of the reconstructed Transvaal. Alfred Deakin, the South African premier, Sir John Ward, leader of New Zealand, Frederick Moor, premier of Natal, and Dr. Jameson have already arrived in London. Sir Wilfrid Laurier of Canada, Sir Robert Bond of Newfoundland and General Botha are on their way here.

Premier Botha [illegible] Cape Town March 2 with the declared purpose of convincing Great Britain of the loyalty of his subjects. He will be given a hearty official welcome on his arrival at Southampton.

The most important questions left for discussion are the project providing for a permanent and preferential trade between the colonies and Great Britain and the rival colonies themselves, imperial defense schemes and emigration, with minor questions like penny postage, naturalization and patent laws. Preferential trade looms up as the largest subject in the preliminary talk. While the colonists are anxious to give the mother country advantages, they chafe under the one-sided arrangements which yield them no return. Premiers Laurier and Deakin have already spoken on record to this effect, and the tendency of colonial opinion seems to have crystallized in the following resolution which Premier Jameson proposes to introduce:

"This conference, while adhering to the principle of preferential trade in the products and manufactures of the United Kingdom, feels it incumbent upon his majesty's government to point out that the conditions which the treaties of 1871 and 1892 with Germany and Belgium respectively, and the manufacturers of these countries, have fastened upon the granting of some of the colonial privileges to British traders."

This means a deep gulf between the colonies and the government, and attempts to avoid that difficulty will be the next thorny question that the imperial defense. The immediate difficulty of the problem will be with the disposition of Great Britain to position as a European power and as the mother country of a great empire. Thus Great Britain could not [illegible] the chance to build them [illegible] in a European war in which they were [illegible] [illegible] war will not bring any but [illegible] to [illegible] an [illegible] [illegible] outside [illegible] contributing men and [illegible] for a common defense [illegible] and revenue [illegible] ceipts so expended by the 24 companies paying salaries less than $50,000 was 81-100 of one per cent, but that the percentage of premium receipts so expended by the five companies paying to their presidents and vice presidents $50,000 per annum or upwards amounted to only 19-100 of one per cent.

No Danger to Policyholders.

In view of the universally conceded solvency and soundness of all companies paying these larger salaries, no one can have the hardihood to claim that the small percentage of their premium receipts thus expended could in any possibility impair the absolute security of their policyholders' contracts, which phase of the subject might properly be considered a legitimate subject of state solicitude and these considerations of solvency and absolute security gain conclusive force from the fact that the admitted assets of these five companies amount to more than one billion and five hundred million dollars.

"It seems quite plain therefore from a statement of actual conditions not only the payment of the salaries condemned by this ill-conceived state legislation does not in the least imperil or put in jeopardy the security of the insured, but that its effect on their right to premium dividends, or participation in accumulated assets may well be regarded individual cases, a negligible factor."

After arguing that the doctrine of comity forbids one state from seeking to interfere with the internal affairs of citizens of other states except where absolutely necessary for the protection of its own citizens, he concludes:

"These corporate citizens of the United States having entered states other than their own, exhibit in their behalf the certificat of fitness and approved equipment granted them by these states. They ask such consideration of these certificates as will save them from anomalous and injurious limitations upon their business operations and such treatment as their home indorsements and faith in the American maxim of fair play have led them to expect."

reply which is made to his friends by those arriving from various parts of the country in response to inquiries as to what the people are saying is this:

"Nine out of ten men say they will vote for Roosevelt again, and he has got to run."

These statements have been coming to the president, not only from personal friends who are writing letter to the White house, but from members of congress, local and state leaders, newspaper editors and prominent heads of labor organizations.

All these men are thoroughly convinced that no matter what the president may say or do to prevent his nomination he will be compelled to take it in 1908, or see a conservative or "reactionary" nominated.

At present it may be said that he is fairly overwhelmed with the demand that he run again.

C. & A. ROAD IS WRECKED

Stanton, a dummy. This transfer included the St. Louis, Peoria and Northern railway.

Syndicate's Profits Enormous.

"Louis L. Stanton" then sold to the syndicate the stock transferred and the short railroad line which necessitated the issue of $22,000,000 per cent gold bonds, amounting to $15,000,000. This made the syndicate's profits $74,648,600.

When the syndicate gained control in 1899, says Mr. Steed, the road's liabilities amounted to $39,000,000. In 1906 the liabilities of the consolidated company reached $119,648,218.08 representing an indebtedness of $80,646,218.08 created by the syndicate. Only $22,500,000 of this was created to improve the road, the remainder not being the result of any legitimate purpose, adds the attorney general. But in addition to the company's bonded indebtedness which amounts to over $79,000 a mile, its capital stock liabilities are over $45,000 a mile, and its present outstanding indebtedness, on account of equipment, trust obligations, is over $25,000 a mile. As to a possible receiver Mr. Steed says:

"Even if the company's charter should be revoked by the state, the innocent stockholders would suffer most.

"The bonds of the company are in the hands of the innocent purchasers, for a valuable consideration and under the decisions of our supreme court and the supreme court of the United States in my opinion can not be attacked.

Suggests Remedy.

"I am inclined to the opinion that the remedy lies with the company itself or in the event of its refusal to act, with some one or more of the stockholders. Should I become satisfied, however, upon further investigation that an effective remedy can be enforced by the state, I shall not hesitate to institute proceedings.

"Whether or not the members of this syndicate are criminally liable under the statutes of the state of Illinois I express no opinion at this time."

successfully and justly solve all the problems that may be presented."

Speaker Cannon said the present depression in Wall Street did not in any way represent the country; values, he said, are just as good as ever, and the country's resources just as abundant. The speaker held a farewell reception on the pier when the ship docked.

Congressman James S. Sherman was a member of the party. When asked concerning the campaign contributions of the fall of 1904, he said:

"Gentlemen, I am now giving a correct imitation of a Sphynx."

When Speaker Cannon took his place before the customs inspector to make his declaration, he said:

"Yes, I have a few articles to declare. Here is a necklace, rare, very rare. It's for my granddaughter and it cost 25 cents. Here is a collection of beads, also rare, cost 50 cents. I guess that lets me out."

MRS. C. E. FINK

HEALTH OF WOMEN

In this nineteenth century to keep up with the march of progress every power of woman is strained to its utmost, and the tax upon her physical system is far greater than ever.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines. They relied upon roots and herbs to cure weaknesses and disease, and their knowledge of roots and herbs was far greater than that of women today.

It was in this study of roots and herbs that Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.

This medicine made from native roots and herbs contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Mrs. C. E. Fink, of Carnegie, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every suffering woman would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to you for advice. It has done me a world of good and what it has accomplished for me I know it will do for others."

When women are troubled with Irregularities, Displacements, Ulceration, Inflammation, Backache, Nervous Prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case.

FOR DESERVING POOR

COLONY FARM MAY BE STARTED NEAR GREELEY.

Eastern Philanthropist Has Project in Mind for Benefit of Tenement Dwellers.

GREELEY, Colo., April 5.—The Arbuckle & Russell Land company of Greeley is negotiating for the sale of a large tract of land in the Greeley district, to a wealthy eastern philanthropist, for the purpose of establishing a colony of the deserving poor of the crowded tenement house districts of New York and Brooklyn.

All the negotiations for the purchase are being made by Phoenix F. Bennington of Pittsburg, a personal representative of the eastern man, who has been in Greeley the last week making a thorough investigation of the tracts under consideration over the desirability of which he is enthusiastic and on which he will make a favorable report to his principal.

All work on the proposition has been strictly done, and although the exact locality of the land has not been made public it is known that it is near Greeley and consists of three large tracts representing an investment of $75,000 to $165,000 each, with subsequent improvements estimated to cost in excess of $100,000.

May Pay for Property in Crops.

Each settler will be allotted a small farm of 10 to 40 acres and will have as long a time as he wishes to pay for his property in crop payments. He will be furnished with a team, cow, some chickens and necessary farming tools. Attention will be paid to dairying and chicken raising, as they bring quick financial returns, but intensive farming by irrigation will be the main occupation. Small orchards, berry patches and the growing of alfalfa for forage as well as for fertilizing purposes, will be encouraged. Potatoes, onions, beets, wheat, oats and root crops for the market of the district as willing for market, will be cultivated with the idea of making each individual farm a center of production for the needs of the family on it.

To get the largest and quickest results, experienced agriculturists will be in charge as supervisors to instruct the settlers how to farm and be the self-supporting. Instructors to teach the women food values and sanitary housekeeping will be provided and meetings among the farm wives will be held at intervals to compare notes and learn new and satisfactory methods. It is believed that such training will be needed only at first in view of the quality of the people to be secured. Only those deserving such an opportunity and willing to work will be sent to the colony. The lazy and shiftless will not be allowed to remain.

In the selection of the colonists it is understood that certificates of moral and physical soundness will be expected, but the colony is to be nonsectarian with no religious tests whatever and no communistic theory is contemplated. Educational interests of the colony will be looked after from the first and the building of well-lighted and well-ventilated school houses one of the first considerations. Comfortable cottage homes built with reference to good drainage and pure water supply with adequate barns and outhouses will be erected as soon as land is purchased.

The colonists will not be confined to any particular nationality, as colony life promotes unification. The plan proposed to be carried out in detail will be similar to the Amity colony of the Salvation Army in southeastern Colorado, to the end that families who are now eking out a mere existence in the routine of the sweat shop and factory, with nothing better in view, may become healthful and practical small farmers and good citizens.

Many guesses are being made as to who the philanthropist may be. Some say it is Helen Gould, but the secret is being carefully guarded for the present. It is known, however, that the party is of national prominence. One thing satisfactory to this community is, that after a thorough investigation of lands and their probable resources all over the west by the representative of the philanthropist, it was decided that the ideal place for the establishment of such a colony would be near Greeley, where the general fertility of the land and the excellent irrigation system now established, with the many extensions proposed, has made it the most highly productive of irrigated areas and the exponent of the most scientific farming in the world.

Mr. Bennington returned home today, and it is believed that the purchase of the land will be closed early next week.

DIVINE WOULD LEAD CRUSADE

Rev. F. E. J. Lloyd of Chicago Strongly Criticises France.

KANSAS CITY, April 7.—Rev. F. E. J. Lloyd of Chicago, in a speech here tonight on "France and the Vatican," said:

"If I were only big and strong enough I would lead a crusade. It would be a crusade in France, not to restore God, for he never needs restoring, but to restore what the people of France have been robbed of. I am hoping that the people of America and the American government will be the first to demand this restoration and aid in stopping the persecution. This is a country where we pay all early faith to live. I wish that I had the power to make the American see it as I do. Let's say to France that it will not be allowed to confiscate church property. Isn't it the duty of Americans and the American government?"

CHICAGO, April 7.—An attempt was made today to dynamite the home of Giuseppe Mancuso, a Sunday supposedly by the sender of two letters received by Mancuso, in which the payment of $700 on penalty of death was demanded. The explosion partially wrecked the building, but no one was injured.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK

CARNEGIE INSTITUTE TO BE DEDICATED.

Real Opening of Baseball Season—Big Leagues Have First Games on Thursday.

The present week promises to be one of the favorites in Pittsburg. Thursday for the dedication of the Carnegie Institute seems to have been set since the one week of April in which the dedication of the Carnegie institute in Pittsburg. The exercises will occupy three days and will be participated in by the leading statesmen, educators and artists of America and many foreign countries.

Carnegie's Gift to Pittsburg.

The Carnegie institute, representing an outlay of $12,000,000 is the final development of an offer made by Andrew Carnegie to the city where the principal part of his vast fortune was acquired. It covers a half surface approximately equal to an area of two city squares.

Baron De Estournelles De Constant, founder of the association for international conciliation, who came to America for to attend the national peace congress, soon to be held in New York, will visit President Roosevelt at Washington, Monday. The baron's visit is in response to a special invitation.

Major Francis E. Leonard of the Fifth United States infantry, a son of the late Gen. John C. Leonard, will face a court martial in New York city next Wednesday on charges growing out of a petition in bankruptcy filed in that city last year.

William J. Bryan will be the principal speaker at the dedication dinner of the Brooklyn Jefferson club next Saturday.

Baseball Season Opens.

In the line of sports, the principal event of the week will be the real opening of the baseball season. The first scheduled games of the big leagues will be played on Thursday. The opening games in the National league will be played in New York, Boston, Cincinnati and Chicago. The American league will open the season with games at Philadelphia, Washington, St. Louis, and Detroit.

Many well known boxing experts will participate in the indoor tournament which will be held in New York beginning Monday and continuing for several weeks. A feature of the boxing will be the intercity women's championship which was won two years ago by Miss Mariah Fiorio and Eleanor Seats of Boston.

Preparations on a magnificent scale have been made at Cartagena, Spain, for the meeting between King Alfonso and King Edward and Queen Alexandra on April 8. A feature of the festivities will be the electric light display in the port, which includes the initials of the two kings in letters 48 feet high. While the visit will be of short duration owing to the illness of the Spanish queen, the meeting is expected to further cement the close understanding between Spain and Great Britain. The German reichstag will reassemble April 10 when Prince Von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, will return to Berlin from Rampolla, where he has been conferring with Signor Tittoni, the Italian foreign minister, with regard to the relations between their respective countries.

SECRETARY TAFT IN CUBA

Is Welcomed by Governor Magoon and Other High Officials.—Refuses to Talk of His Plans.

HAVANA, April 7.—Secretary of War Taft and party arrived here this morning on board the Mayflower. The trip from the isthmus was uneventful. All the members of the party are well.

Governor Magoon, accompanied by Brigadier General Barry, commanding the army of pacification, General Rodriguez, commander of the rural guards, the mayor of Havana, the heads of departments, and prominent Cuban officials, went out in launches to welcome Secretary Taft.

The secretary surprised the Cubans greatly by needing no introduction to them and calling a majority of them by name. He refused to discuss politics or his plans in Cuba.

Mr. Taft and his party are stopping at the palace as the guests of Governor Magoon, who has made special arrangements for their entertainment. They remain here until Wednesday night, when the Mayflower will sail for Porto Rico.

The committee of the last revolutionary army, with which Secretary Taft made the peace terms last year, met here last evening and decided to insist that the secretary fulfill the promises he made at that time, including one according to the committee to hold elections in June.

Secretary Taft spent the greater part of the day with Governor Magoon. A committee of Liberals called at the palace and requested an interview with Secretary Taft, but was told he could not be interviewed.

Secretary Taft and Governor Magoon spent two hours at Camp Columbia. The secretary expressed satisfaction at the way the camp was kept.

Mr. Taft said he would consider matters closely here and if he thought it wise would make a statement to the press. In requesting a definite statement regarding the future policy of the United States towards Cuba, the Liberal press asks that the promises made by Secretary Taft and Assistant Secretary Bacon be kept. The Conservative press, while it has expressed no hope for the immediate withdrawal of the American forces, urges a definite statement from Secretary Taft as to the policy to be pursued.

ROME, April 7.—J. P. Morgan of New York has arrived here for a short visit.

TO AID AGRICULTURE

HOW MONEY SHOULD BE EXPENDED IN RESEARCH.

L. H. Bailey of Cornell Discusses Conditions in Letter to David Star Jordan of Stanford.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The nature of the work of the college of agriculture that should be supported by government aid in the organization of the department that should prevail in the experiment stations of land grant colleges, provision for research, experimentation and extension work in the interests of agriculture, [illegible] President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford university, a copy of which was received by Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry service. Mr. Bailey is president of the association of agricultural colleges and experiment stations which the commission represents, and Dr. Jordan is chairman of the commission.

The commission has held several sessions in Washington in the past few days, during which the work of the various members was laid out. The members have discussed the proposed work with President Roosevelt, and it is said that he is much interested in what it is expected to accomplish.

President Bailey's letter says:

"The occasion for the creating of the commission lies in the fact that in the years rapid evolution of experiment work and research in agriculture in the United States there has not yet arisen a clear understanding of marginal limits and relationships or a settled policy in relation to many large public questions. We need to work out principles and tactics.

"There undoubtedly needs to be a correlation and harmonizing of subjects and methods, an understanding of the proper spheres, functions and limitations of national and state agencies, a consideration of the relation of institutions in the states to federal appropriations and control, or the most effective distribution of effort among the different state and national institutions, consideration of the influence exerted in research in agriculture by the different methods of appropriations by legislatures, of the relation of the national worker to institutional organization, discussion of what constitutes research that shall promote useful and worthy results, the relation of this research to the teaching and publicity functions of the institutions, consideration of the relation of research in agriculture to the general body of science and the coordination of these and in general such a directing of experiment and research in the interests of agriculture as shall compact and consolidate the work, render it more humble and effective and integrate it with wise policies for the interest of the public welfare.

"It lies with the commission to cover much or little of this field, but it will be essential to consider the best methods of organizing research work, the mutual relations of experiment stations and federal agencies, and the general character of research that may issue from institutions founded on public money. The two members representing the association are familiar with the questions that need most to be discussed."

President Bailey says that the commission may consider any other research work supported by public money that promotes agricultural knowledge and efficiency. It cannot, he says, neglect direct educational questions inasmuch as they touch the interpretation of permanent equipment and teaching in the institutions, and particularly as they relate to the training of men to undertake research.

LAST WEEK OF THAW TRIAL

Curtain Rises This Morning on Last Act of Famous Case.—Will Reach Jury Thursday.

NEW YORK, April 7.—When Judge Fitzgerald tomorrow morning announces formally the findings of the commission in lunacy which inquired into the present mental condition of Harry K. Thaw, the curtain will rise on the last act of the long case.

Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, who was on the stand when District Attorney Jerome asked for the appointment of the commission, will, it is understood, be recalled and allowed to retire without further examination.

Mr. Delmas, it is said, will ask an adjournment until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It is because he finds it impossible to make his address to the jury in one day that he will make his opening tomorrow afternoon to leave him the full day Tuesday in which to conclude his summing up.

Mr. Delmas remained at his home today putting the finishing touches on his plea.

District Attorney Jerome is expected to occupy three or four hours of Wednesday and his summing up may take more time. There will then remain only Justice Fitzgerald's charge before the case goes to the jury, which can hardly be later than Thursday unless unforeseen obstacles arise.

Most of the members of the jury have had previous experience in criminal cases. Three have sat on homicide cases before and eight have been jurors in criminal cases where the charge was other than murder, only one man never having been a juror previously. Of the three men who have sat in homicide cases, one was on a jury that brought in a verdict of justifiable; the second served in two cases, in each of which the verdict was murder in the first degree, and the third man was on a jury returning a manslaughter verdict.

Thaw passed a quiet day reading the papers and writing. He was in usually good spirits and attended religious services.

The following statement was made tonight by Mr. Delmas:

"Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton will be the first witness called when the trial is resumed. His examination had not been completed when the proceedings were postponed by the application for appointment of a commission in lunacy by the district attorney. It has not been decided whether Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will be called to the witness stand."

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PLOTTERS.

FROM the time when the mine first revolved to boil the out up to the recent there have been constant plots and counterplots on the part of predatory creatures to prevent interference with their business. Naturally this thing has been taken as a foregone conclusion whenever there is an active cat there is plotting mice.

Just at the present time there is a great deal of discussion over the reports relative to a plot on the part of certain railroad and allied interests to overthrow Roosevelt and destroy his influence. There are in circulation almost innumerable versions of the story, denials, reiterations and explanations, none of which are conclusive. If such a conspiracy as has been reported actually exists, it is certain the denials are only what are to be expected and are wholly unconvincing. It is not doubted that such a plot exists or would deny it, and it would only tend to the support of the President to such an extent as to make his position stronger than ever before.

As a matter of fact it is of little importance which of the several particular stories of a conspiracy first to see the light of day is false or true. For one thing it is generally well known that there are numerous powerful interests which look upon the President as persona non grata and who would gladly see him undone. The plotting figures in the conspiracy which is said to have been formed with having expressed themselves to the effect that they would have no more to do with the President, and others will do likewise. One for February, One for March and an Extra—Company Doing Good Work.

The directors of the Elkton Consolidated Mining and Milling company last Friday declared the regular half-cent monthly dividend for both February and March, in addition to an extra dividend of one-half cent. Approximately $2,000,000 in dividends has been paid to date by the Elkton company, making it second only to the Portland Gold Mining company in extent of dividend disbursements.

The dividends just declared will be paid April 24 to stockholders of record on April 14. A similar dividend was paid February 24, making a total of $75,000 paid by the company this year. The Elkton company owns 56 acres of patented land on Raven hill. The property, which was one of the noted bonanzas of the district for years, lost money for a time, but was put on a paying basis again about two years ago.

CASE WILL COME UP TODAY

City vs. Hydro-Electric Company Suit to Be Tried Before Judge Cavender of Leadville.

The long-continued case of the city of Colorado Springs vs. the Pike's Peak Hydro-Electric company, to secure an interpretation of the terms of the Jackson franchise, under which the company is operating its electric power plant, will come up for hearing in the district court at 10 o'clock this morning before Judge Charles Cavender of Leadville.

The city claims the right to purchase power from the Hydro company at the same rate accorded the Colorado Springs Electric company. The Hydro company contends that the city can do this only by purchasing as much power as does the electric company, and even then only for "municipal" purposes. This term, according to the company, does not include the operation of an electric lighting plant by the city.

ATTACK OF HEART FAILURE

Frank Gatham Falls to Street, Sustaining Bruises.

Frank Gatham, caretaker of the Hagerman building, was overcome with a sudden attack of heart trouble while walking with his son on Tejon street, at the intersection of Huerfano street, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, falling to the sidewalk with great force. Gatham was taken in the ambulance to his home, 619 North Cascade avenue. He speedily recovered, but is carrying several bruises about the head as a result of his fall on the stone sidewalk.

THE MAN WHO SELLS DOGS

A Street Vender Who Peddles Puppies in Petticoat Lane.

From the Kansas City Star.

In Petticoat lane, where one sees many old things, stands the vender of puppies. From his right coat pocket the head of a little black terrier sticks out and turns from side to side as he peers with wondering eyes at the strange pageant passing by. From the other coat pocket protrudes the head of a toy terrier. Under his left arm is a pretty spaniel with a soft, rich coat of white and brown.

"Isn't that just too cute," one young woman exclaimed to another, as they stopped and toyed with the blue ribbons about a puppy's neck. "What breeds have you?" she inquired of the vender.

"I have three different breeds here, but I can supply any breed you wish," he replied.

The two women passed on. Another crowd—a half dozen of them—stopped and crowded around the vender.

"I sell lots of them," he said to a man who elbowed his way through the crowd of women. "Yes, there is good money in it, and I get fancy prices here in Kansas City."

Then he imparted the information that he obtained his supply of puppies from a dog farm at Marion, Ind. "But," he added, "there are lots of good puppies raised around Kansas City, but not enough to supply the trade."

You will always notice that when a girl's lips say no her eyes say yes, and the other way round.

TO STORE WINTER CLOTHES

From Interior Decoration for March.

If one has sufficient closet room, it is better to store the winter clothes away on hangers than to fold them in trunks or drawers. A dust and moth proof cover should be made to envelop them, hanger and all. Cut out a large bag of unbleached muslin and put drawing strings at top and bottom. Then soak the bag in strong turpentine, after which it should be aired until the fumes have evaporated. Adjust the bag around the clothes and hanger and draw the strings tightly. Furs may be preserved in the same manner.

DIDN'T MIND THE WIND

LILLIAN RUSSELL SEES SIGHTS IN THIS VICINITY.

So Delighted That She Will Spend All Day Tomorrow Here Visiting Scenic Points.

There was many a seasoned westerner who kept close under cover yesterday and did not dare to leave the "breeze" that came down from Pike's Peak, but not so with Lillian Russell the famous actress, who spent the whole afternoon in an automobile taking in the sights of the district. The company arrived about noon in Miss Russell's private car, Iolanthe, and, despite the cold weather, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon Miss Russell was dabbling her fresh face in the mountains and feasting her eyes on the sights in the Garden of the Gods, South Cheyenne canon and in the vicinity of Manitou.

"We have been looking forward for a long time to a day in Colorado Springs," said Miss Russell to a representative of The Gazette after her trip, "and so delighted are we with the beautiful scenery that we are planning to spend the whole day here on Tuesday and repeat our automobile ride. The weather today was much better close to the mountains than in the city. We did not feel the wind after we got to the Garden of the Gods. I have been in this city several times before, but never had time to visit your places of scenic beauty, a sore and today. This is one of the cities I am in love with, and we are looking forward with pleasure to Tuesday."

The company spent the night in the Iolanthe and left this morning for Pueblo, where Miss Russell will appear in "The Butterfly" this evening. After the performance she will return to Colorado Springs. Tomorrow night "The Butterfly" will be presented at the local Opera house, and Colorado Springs people will be able to see Miss Russell in one of her most popular roles.

For the last three months Miss Russell has been touring the east in her private car, and she has within three months' engagement ahead of her which will make a record in point of time for a continuous theatrical tour. The car is Miss Russell's home, and it certainly is a palace on wheels.

From this city the company goes to Cheyenne, and from there to Salt Lake and the Pacific coast. All the large coast cities as far north as Vancouver will be visited, and the return east will be made over the Northern Pacific to St. Paul. From there the company will run to Winnipeg and thence to Duluth and Detroit, when the tour will close. After this Miss Russell will spend eight weeks in England and Europe and will return to this for the coming season at Saratoga.

There is not much log of improvement for the man with the ready excuse or explanation.

COLORS SEEN IN RAINBOWS

Books Say There Are Seven, but Few Observe That Number.

From the Chicago Chronicle.

How many colors are there in the rainbow, or what is the same thing, how many can one make out in the light that has come through a diamond, a piece of cut glass or the beveled edge of a mirror? The books, of course, say seven. But how many people really do see three different shades of blue as distinct on one side of the green as are the red, orange and yellow on the other?

By no means everybody, we may be sure, although, on the other hand, it is known that certain sorts of cats which they look at the rainbow see only the sky where we see the red band, while, to make up for it, they see next the violet on the other side of the bow one or two colors invisible to us.

Races That Are Blue Blind.

Next, if there are rainbow colors which men do not see at all, and if some people make out only six colors where others distinguish seven, because they are blind to one of the three shades of blue, one might guess that there would be people somewhere in the world who would be able to find no more than five diffe[illegible] colors, or perhaps only four. There really is reason for thinking that this is the case.

The early Greeks had no word for blue, and Gladstone always maintained that it was because they could not see blue. Moreover, it seems to be a general rule that where a language does not have words for red, yellow, green and blue, the blue is always the one to be lacking, and travelers among the savage tribes in the interior of Borneo have reported them to be blue blind.

Defect in Filipino Vision.

Lately several teachers who have gone from the United States to the Philippine islands and taken schools among the Visayans—who, of course, are related to the real Filipinos, only as the Indians to us—have complained of the difficulty in making their pupils learn the names of colors.

These little brown children are in school red, orange and yellow crayons exactly as American children do, but they get easily mixed over the blues and greens. The Visay[illegible] boys insist that their dark blue trousers are black—as, indeed, we should take them to be in the evening. The girls like best to wear red and yellow, while they so as we do, but purple they think is brown or red, their light blue dress they take to be green, while they insist that sky and grass are only different shades of the same color.

It is as if these children saw all things by gas light, by which, as we all know, dark blues are black and light blues can hardly be told from green.

There are scientists who hold that ages ago men could see in the rainbow only red, orange, yellow and green, and that gradually as they have progressed in other respects they have added first greenish blue, then indigo, only lately violet, and will by and by add others still.

SOME CURIOUS EPITAPHS

Collected From Tombstones in All Parts of the World.

From the Kansas City Star.

"Here Lies" is the title of an old book in a secondhand book store on East Twelfth street. It is a collection of ancient and modern epitaphs, and humorous epitaphs, compiled by W. H. Howe. On the cover is the picture of a headstone bearing the inscription:

Here Lies
Joseph Rennes
Buried at Sea
1784-1855

A few good epitaphs from the first page are:

On an author: "Finis."

On a painter: "Here lies a finished artist."

On a photographer: "Taken from Life."

Sir John Strange, the eminent barrister, has the following epitaph, which is probably true, taken in either of its possible senses:

Here Lies an Honest Lawyer:
That is Strange.

Here is the epitaph of Mrs. Oldfield, actress:

This two must own, in justice to her shade,
'Tis the first bad exit Oldfield ever made.

The translated epitaph of Alexander the Great is:

Heaven round suffices for one whom the world was not large enough.

From Cambridge:

Here lies the body of Mary Gwynne,
Who was so very pure within,
She cracked the shell of her earthly skin
And hatched herself a cherubin.

There is an old monument in the churchyard of Holstein, Dumfriesshire, which formerly bore the inscription:

Here lyes a man who all his mortal life
Passed mending clocks, but could not mend his wife.
The chasm of his bell we now see stand
As wor her tongue, aye clacking like a mill!
But now he's gan—oh whither! nane can tell—
I hope beyond the sound of Mollie's bell.

On an infant six months old:

Since I have been so quickly done for,
I wonder what I was begun for.

In Dodington churchyard, Durham, Poems and epitaphs are but stuff,
Here lies Robert Burrows—that's enough.

The following is taken from a headboard at a grave in Santa Ingatino, Cal.:

In memory of John Smith, who met with death near this spot,
A hundred and 40 feet. He was shot by his own pistol.
It was not one of the weakest kind,
But a old fashioned
Trigger-lock, and of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

In a country churchyard:

Here lies James Robinson and Ruth his wife;
Either surface is smooth and
In Paisewick churchyard, near Strand, Gloucestershire, is:

My wife is dead, and here she lies,
Nobody laughs and nobody cries;
Where she is gone to and how she lies
Nobody knows, and nobody cares.

On Thomas Kemp, who was hanged for stealing sheep:

Here lies the body of Thomas Kemp,
Who lived by wool and died by hemp.

The average girl's idea of reckless dissipation is a soda fountain beverage that costs more than a dime.

WHAT IS A REAL SHAMROCK?

Impossible to Say Which Trefoil Is Ireland's True Emblem.

From the Chicago Chronicle.

A newspaper the other day reported a "prominent florist and horticulturist" as saying: "There seems to be some strange fatality about the shamrock. It is essentially the flower of Ireland. Nowhere else except in that little isle will the plant thrive, and when transplanted its death is only a question of brief time. Irish it is and nothing can change it."

This statement is romantic, but hardly scientific. In the first place, no one knows surely what plant is meant when the shamrock is mentioned. It is impossible to know what plant this horticulturist meant. In one part of Ireland one plant is called the shamrock, in another part another plant and elsewhere in the island still another.

The name is perhaps most widely given to one of the hop clovers botanically named trifolium minus. This is the plant which is commonly exported from Ireland, especially to London, for St. Patrick's day and often to the United States under the name of the shamrock.

It may perhaps lay claim to being called the true historic shamrock, although that honor might also be claimed for several other plants.

But it is not true that it will not grow elsewhere. It will grow wherever it is properly cultivated, and does grow freely in other countries.

Beyond that the white clover, trifolium repens, is widely understood to be the common shamrock and is plucked and worn under that name in Ireland and elsewhere. It grows nowhere more freely and abundantly than in the United States and there is nothing characteristically Irish about it.

The black medic (medicago lupulina) is also known as the shamrock. So is the wood sorrel (oxalis acetosella.) There is much historical evidence in favor of the claim that this last plant is the shamrock sung by the poets. It is beautifully trifoliate and it grows in wild places.

It may well be the plant referred to by the horticulturist above mentioned, because it would be difficult to make it thrive in any sort of cultivation which did not approximate closely to the conditions under which it grows naturally.

However, these natural conditions are not found in Ireland alone. This oxalis grows in England as well and is there locally known as the shamrock. It flourishes in the United States, carpeting the ground for square miles together.

The red clover has been called the shamrock. This plant is extremely familiar to Americans and is the state flower of Vermont. Even the watercress has been called the shamrock, although its leaves are not trifoliate.

The "true shamrock" to an Irishman is the plant which is known by that name around the spot of his or his father's birth. But the botanist has as much trouble in identifying the "mayflower" of New England, a name which is applied in different localities to the trailing arbutus to the saxifrage, to the hepatica and to two or three other plants. In spite of the fact that the trailing arbutus is the mayflower of New England literature the word is much more commonly and popularly applied to the saxifrage than it is to the arbutus.
